Citizens Offer $50,000 For Tustin Athletic Program

Propose Budget To Reinstate Inter-School Sports

BY TERRY ALLAN
Rancho Reporter City Editor

Nearly a month of speculation over what was to be done about the elimination of sports in the Tustin Union High School District culminated last week when a citizens group offered $50,000 to support an athletic program for the district's three high schools.

Financed by the private donations, the proposed budget would support a complete boys and girls inter-school athletic program, according to George Dicks, Newport Beach insurance broker, who served as chairman during the combined efforts of the three area booster clubs.

With between $25,000 and $30,000 cash already in hand, the group proposed to the district board that they give 50 per cent of the money to officials July 12, 25 per cent in September and the other 25 per cent in January.

The July date as the initial day of offering was chosen because it is past the date any other possible tax override issues could be held.

Following the presentation by the citizen's group, trustee H. E. Balmer moved to accept the donations, and the board approved unanimously.

According to Dicks, the proposed program is "a workable one for which we are prepared to pay." He said it would involve 1,036 students, with one fourth of them girls.

According to another member of the Sports For Your Kids Committee, the 100 man group has collected or obtained $35,971 in pledges.

The Mission Viejo Co. was the largest single donor, he revealed.

Even with the success the committe has made, however, it is apparent that many cuts will still have to be made. Had the tax override passed, athletics for the district would have been set up on a $90,000 budget.

The budget proposed by the committee eliminates the following:

A varsity assistant football coach, a JV basketball coach and assistant track coach at both Tustin and Foothill.

A girls' coach, equipment man and matroness' salary at all three schools.

A portion of the athletic director's salary at all three schools.

A lowering in bus transportation charges from 42 cents to 27 cents a mile.

However, Mission Viejo High School will be allowed a new golf coach and three additional assistant coaches because the school will compete with juniors for the first time next year.

Candidate Zisch Stresses Advancement of District

By CARL E. VENSTROM
Editor and Publisher

John G. Zisch, of 1172 Cambera Lane, Santa Ana, has filed for one of the two board of trustee positions openings for the Tustin Union High School District. The local election will take place on April 18.

The board candidate is district manager, in charge of technical publications and advertising for McGraw-Hill Inc., book publishers.

In a special interview this week with the RANCHO REPORTER, Zisch said "I feel compelled to run for the board. I feel I must either move out of town or stay and fight for a better high school district, both for my children and for the other children of the community."

Zisch said this week that he believes our present critical problems in the Tustin Union High School District are mainly a result of a communications breakdown between the board of trustees and the administration on one hand and the citizens of the community on the other.

"We can solve this problem," said Zisch, "only when we have a board that is responsive to and responsible to the citizens of this district."

On the function of a board member, Zisch said, "I believe that a Trustee of the school district is a representative of the people and should strongly question all expenditures and programs presented by the administration.

"Good government, said Zisch, "is based upon these proper checks and balances."

Upon questioning on how he would solve the present conflict between the community and the needs of the school district in form of a tax override, Zisch said he believes that with proper budgetary administration, the Tustin Union High School District could be effectively operated on a tax override of 45 cents.

"A future tax override of 45 cents," said Zisch, "will offer our students the educational program asked for by the majority of our community and will also be a more responsible consideration of the taxpayers already overburdened plight."

Zisch has lived with his wife, Shirley, and five children in Tustin for the past four years. Two children are presently enrolled at Foothill High: Lynn, a junior, and Jennifer, a sophomore. His son John is a 7th grader at Hewes; son Bill is a 4th grader at Arroyo, and daughter Kate isin the second grade at Arroyo.

Zisch holds a B.S. in business administration from Colorado University and a L.L.B. in law from Colorado. He was a navy flyer during World War II.

He has been active in Tustin school activities for some time. He was the immediate past chairman of the Citizens Educational Advisory Group and is presently a member on the board of the Foothill Parent Faculty Organization and is also a member of the board of Hewes Elementary Parent Teachers Organization.

The 42-year-old Zisch has also been active in numerous youth activities in the community including Little League, Indian Guides, Advisor for the Tustin Presbyterian High School Fellowship and the YMCA.

We Welcome New Columnist

Finance Expert Joins Staff As $ Specialist

Joining the impressive list of RANCHO REPORTER columnists this week is Chester G. Briner, finance specialist.

A local man, living in Mission Viejo and having been educated in the Santa Ana school system, Briner is a member of the New York Stock Exchange firm of Crowell, Weedon and Company.

He attended the University of Maryland and Syracuse University, eventually receiving his Master's degree in business administration at Syracuse.

Later the new columnist was a lecturer in business at the University of Maryland.

Interested in his community and its growth. Briner is active in the Mission Viejo High School Booster's Club, Tustin High School District Citizens Educational Advisory Group and Toastmasters.

He is a member of, and Sunday school teacher at First Christian Church, Santa Ana.

We at the RANCHO REPORTER are happy to welcome the author of "Blue Chips" to our ranks. And we are proud to display his first column on page two of this issue.

Boranian Feels Interest In Students of Community

Dick Boranian, of 1831 S.E. Alita Lane, Santa Ana, has filed for one of the two board of trustee positions openings for the Tustin Union High School District.

Election for the school positions will take place on April 18.

Boranian, a Tustin resident for the past ten years, lives at the above address with his wife, Barbara, and three children, Meggin, 12, Dick, 10, and Eric, 8.

Boranian said today "We are living in a crucial time in the educational growth of the Tustin Union High School District and that the people of the area should stop and consider the real needs of the students of the district.

"My main reason for running for the board," said Boranian, "is my concern for the youngsters of the community. I am concerned for all of the youngsters of the community and for my own three who are rapidly reaching high school age.

"A board member," said Boranian, "represents the people of the community and should reflect the consensus of the community in the area of programming, financing and policy. This can be done through flexible, two way communication.

"A school board member should have an open mind and should accept constructive criticism from public, parents, educators and students," he reflected.

"If elected," said Boranian, "I would work on improving the high school district from the standpoint of public communication and returning the district to leadership role in education.

"I am acquainted with Mission Viejo high school as well as the other two high schools in the district and, if elected, would spend considerable time in the El Toro, Irvine, University Park, Laguna Hills and Mission Viejo areas finding out the real needs of the students," said Boranian.

Dick Boranian

"If elected to the board I would constantly communicate--through the pages of the RANCHO REPORTER--with the citizens of the district living to the South of Tustin," said Boranian.

Boranian, age 39, received his B.A. from Mankato State College in Minnesota, his M.A. from Chapman College and has done graduate work at the University of Minnesota, UCLA and California State College at Long Beach. He is presently an elementary school principal in Garden Grove.

Vote Wisely

Encouraging news appeared this week with the quanitity and quality of board member candidates for the various school boards in our area.

Election for the boards will take place on April 18 and we hope the readers will have the opportunity to get acquainted with the various candidates that they will be voting for.

For the San Joaquin Elementary School District there are five candidates for the two man opening on the board. For the Tustin Elementary School District there are four running for the two man vacancy. For the Tustin Union High School District there are nine candidates for the two board opening.

From this number of candidates the public has a choice and should chose wisely. This is especially true with the high school district where so much is at stake within the next year or two.

The main function of a school board member is to establish policy and to carry out the wishes of the community of which he represents. So, the citizens should chose wisely to see that the members they elect to the board are ones that reflect their thinking and wishes. They should elect candidates that are objective, fair and have the welfare of the student in mind. The most effective school board member is one that is non partisan and has no preconceived axe to grind.

The best school board candidate is one who is truly interested in serving the youth of this community. Any other motives are undeserving of a candidate.

So, please read and listen critical within the next month as you hear from these various candidates. Go to the open meetings and ask questions so that you will become acquainted with the various men who will be directing the educational life of your children for the next several years.

The school business is a big business, tax wise. And the school business is a bigger business yet, when one considers that these men will set the tone, policy and learning environment for thousands of children. Children that need all the training possible to meet a demanding civilization.

As these men speak, and talk to the press, watch closely so you may select the best--the best to serve your children and mine.

Rancho Reporter Expands

Your local newspaper, THE RANCHO REPORTER--like the area we live in--is growing and changing.

During the four months we have been publishing more and more has been happening and more people have relied on us as a channel of communication. The pressure to increase the size of our publication has increased recently and with this week's increase in advertising we are able to expand our newspaper to eight pages.

It takes many people to produce a successful newspaper--loyal readers who call on the phone when you have done a good job, loyal advertisers who have enough faith in your publication to run ads week after week and who take pride in their community and their local newspaper.

And last, but not the least, is a loyal and hard working advertising staff that enables a newspaper to increase its size.

The area is changing and we are proud that THE RANCHO REPORTER is changing with the area.

In addition to some new advertisers we are also including a new column, entitled "Blue Chips," written by Mission Viejo resident Chester Briner. The column will deal with various investment opportunities that should be of interest to the RANCHO REPORTER reader.

Labor And Machinery Donated For High School Tree Planting

Necessary labor and machinery was offered free to the Mission Viejo High School Agricultural Department last week for the tillage of the ground in preparation for the initial planting of citrus trees on the agricultural farm.

The free offer was made at the regular meeting of the high school board of trustees last week by C. W. (Chuck) Forbes, of Forbes & Son, of El Rancho of Irvine.

Rancher George Broomell previously offered the citrus trees to the high school. This offer by Forbes will enable the trees to be planted "in keeping with good citrus culture" by March 15.

REFLECTIONS ...

The American Bathroom

The American bathroom is a strange institution. In many ways it represents the pragmatic spirit of the American civilization.

If one requires utmost peace and quietude, one should simply slip into an American bathroom. It is generally the only room that is locked. It is also the only room that lets you escape even from your ever-loving wife or ever-adoring children.

A great deal of money and effort goes into the design of bathrooms of modern American homes. Sunken Roman baths, enclosed gardens and Picasso's prints are common items. Some of these bathrooms are even fitted with sofas, portable TV's and blood curdling magazines. No wonder in some circles one's status is determined by the number of bathrooms in one's house.

The American bathroom is quite different from the ones found in India. When I lived in the village, my bathroom was in the midst of a ripened field, far from the tiny village and shut away from the inquisitive eyes.

When I lived in the towns or cities of northern India, my bathroom was invariably on the top of the house, about two or three stories up, much like a dungeon that bespoke of a dunghill. On visit to it was like a visit to hell.

While it is quite a transition from a quiet spot in the field to an American bathroom, it may be interesting to reflect upon the future bathrooms. It is possible that the future bathrooms may move right into the living rooms or the bedrooms thanks to automation and sanitation.

If that happens, man may have to go into a field for a moment of quietude.

Mission Viejo Hi Talk

Betty Wailes, Diablo junior and head songleader, captured first place in a Lions Speech Contest on the subject of peace. Betty placed over Foothill and Tustin High contestants and will now represent Mission Viejo at the District Contest to be held March 17, 7 p.m., at the Revere House in Tustin. Congratulations, Betty, on an inspiring job, well done.

Class rings for the Class of '68 will finally be delivered at Mission tomorrow. Josten's, the jewelry company in charge of the rings, will be at the student store before school, at snack, and at lunch. The balance of the money due on the rings must be paid at this time. Juniors who wish to order rings for next year and haven't already done so may put a $10 deposit down for new rings.

A new organization has been formed on campus known as the Science Club. Currently in the process of writing a constitution, this group portends wider horizens for interested science students. Projected plans for the future will include field trips, guest lecturers and a possible money-raising drive, according to Terry Keen, a principle organizer.

An awards assembly Wednesday, March 8, announced the 15 winners drawn for a free trip to see "Hawaii." These students, along with the 10 highest sellers in the recent Sylvania lightbulb sale sold great amounts of lightbulbs to raise money for the ASB, and were awarded a trip to "Hawaii" for their spirited contributions.

Today, Juniors and Seniors will participate in a Diablo version of "Career Day" and miss fifth and sixth period classes. Career Day gives tudents the opportunity to observe and learn about a field they are interested in for a profession.

Cheer and song leaders for the coming year were chosen after final tryouts Wednesday afternoon, March 9. Cheer leaders selected are as follows: Kathy Berse, Debbie Casella, Pat Casella, Donna Schiller and Pag Wilson. Song leaders for the 1967 year are listed below: Windy Aldrich, Dale Atkinson, Ann Noel, Susie Rilinger and Betty Wailes.

Blue Chips . . .

This is the first of a series of articles on the stock market and the economy. You won't find any "hot tips" or individual stock recommendations here. This column will be devoted to reporting current trends and long range prospects.

In spite of the problems of 1966, the economy gained ground in most areas. It looks like the trend will continue in 1967 although at a slower pace.

The investing public is now faced with the prospect of an economy in transition. How will peace in Vietnam affect the economy. Will the space program take up the slack if we have peace in Vietnam. What if the war continues. How about the "population explosion."

Another factor to be considered- What industries will be influenced by new technology. New industries such as aerospace and electronics are having an impact.

The stock market declined through most of 1966. A modest recovery has taken place since October. Price earnings ratios are still well below the low for 1962. Therefore, some analysts are stating that the market does not appear particularly vulnerable.

Many so-called "experts" forecast a gain for this year. However, they state that the rate of growth will be slower.

Future columns will be directed to specific types of investments. Common stocks, preferred stocks, bonds, mutual funds and their places in investment programs will be discussed.

Shopping With Jan

By Janis Venstrom

A restaurant that is well worth your patronage is located in Corona del Mar and called THE QUIET WOMAN. The following story tells how this unique dinning establishment was named.

The original public house called THE QUIET WOMAN INN is located in Southcombe, Oxfordshire, England, and was built during the hectic days of the Restoration, about the year 1680.

IN DAYS OF OLD

Charles II was King, civil war a way of life, and highwaymen ruled the countryside. The most notorious brigand of them all was the celebrated Black Jack.

Legend tells that the landlord of the Inn was away to Oxford one night, leaving his wife alone. Hearing noises, she feared it might be a highwayman, as the Inn was on their regular route. Very "Quietly" she arose, very "Quietly" she went down to the kitchen where she very "Quietly" grabbed a large frying pan and "Quietly" but efficiently, hit the intruder on his head. The trespasser turned out to be the infamous highwayman, Black Jack.

The only historical reference to this incident is a painting showing the woman clutching a frying pan, standing over the body of Black Jack lying on the floor of the kitchen. The painting still hangs in THE QUIET WOMAN INN at Southcombe, England.

RESEARCH STRUCK OUT

Research did not uncover the origin of the headless figure, but it is assumed that it was to depict a "most quiet woman."

The sign hanging in front of THE QUIET WOMAN in Corona del Mar very closely resembles the one now hanging at the public house in England.

Eldred French, owner and manager will be delighted if you come in and try his excellent menu. For attentive service and superior dinning, accompany your mate, drive along the coast and make your destination 3224 East Coast Highway, Corona del Mar.

Do tell Eldred French that Jan sent you!

Steve Wilson, owner tells me THE TENDER BOX blends their own tobaccos making them far surperior to any of the commercial tobaccos. He just happend to be smoking a pipe when I walked in and its aroma typified the surroundings with a fine quality.

To relate a profile of a pipe smoker would include, a mild manner, easy going, and at peace with the world type of person. Mr. Steve Wilson portrays this image by giving you the time to ask questions and just talking about the weather if that is your desire.

IMPORTED GIFTS

You can also find imported gifts for your man to the tune of fine pipe tobacco imports, personalized engravings on pipes and lighters, and pewter mugs.

THE TINDER BOX also guarantees expert pipe and lighter repairing.

So why not have your man switch to a pipe for a more healthful and relaxing smoke. You can obtain a little folder on the story of your pipe, breaking in your new pipe, keeping your pipe lit, relax with a pipe, pipe bite, what we mean when we call a pipe a "second," helpful facts for the pipe smoker, resting your pipe and finally the eight "DONT'S" for a pipe smoker. I read it, so don't laugh the next time you see me and I am smoking a pipe. -- Good Smoking.

'Flight To Fashion Island' Salesmen Aren't Con Men

Assistance League Members Take On Project Of Selling Ducats To Opening

If someone taps you on the shoulder sometime during the next seven months and asks you if you would like to buy a ticket for a "Flight to Fashion Island," don't be surprised.

She'll be a member of the Orange County or Long Beach Chapters of the Assistance League, or one of the Chapter's Junior Auxiliaries, selling tickets to the Preview Opening of Fashion Island, The Irvine Company's 75-acre shopping center being constructed in Newport Beach.

The organizations are sponsoring the Sept. 9 opening as their major fund-raising activity for 1967.

Participating Assistance Leagues are Anaheim, Garden Grove, Huntington Beach, Laguna Beach, Long Beach, Newport Beach, Orange, Santa Ana, and Tustin. Junior Auxiliaries that are participating are Anaheim, Fullerton, Newport Beach, Orange, and Santa Ana.

Being hailed as one of the most outstanding evenings of fun, ever to be held on the West Coast, "Flight to Fashion Island" will feature a cast of entertainment that includes listening and dancing to the orchestras of Stan Kenton, Les Brown, Freddy Martin, the Mariachi Brass, and the Ink Spots. Songstress Julie London will serve as honorary hostess.

Hot hors d'euvre stands, compliments of Fashion Island, will be set up throughout the spacious mall. No-host bars for refreshments will also be spotted throughout Fashion Island.

A load of 15,000 tickets, worth $75,000 at the selling price of $5 each, was recently delivered to The Irvine Company via armored transport. On hand to receive the valuable cargo were Mrs. Philip Storm, coordinator of the Preview Opening; Mrs. Marshall Niedecker, Newport Beach chapter president; and Daniel A. O'Farrell, manager of Fashion Island, Newport Center.

Net proceeds from ticket sales--amounting to approximately $4 per ticket--is being donated by the Irvine Company to the participating organizations to further their philanthropic work.

At a recent coffee held for 70 League and Auxiliary leaders, all 15,000 tickets were passed out, and plans are to have more printed because of this enthusiastic acceptance of the plans for the gala event.

In keeping with the "Flight to Fashion Island," theme, The Irvine Company has conceived an imaginative ticket format, patterned after Air California's flight packet. The packet contains two tickets, a map showing directions to Fashion Island, parking instructions, and a salute to the Assistance Leagues.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Assistance League or by calling The Irvine Company at 544-0120.

Air California Helps UCI Find Regents

Airline Donates Flight Time To Interviewees

Air California, Inc., has donated necessary air transportation to the University of California, Irvine for potential Regents' scholars to come from Northern California to Orange County for required interviews by members of the UCI faculty committee on undergraduate scholarships.

Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., accepted the air fare gift on behalf of the University from Ronald Armstrong, regional sales manager of Air California.

Deane Neubauer, chairman of the scholarship committee at Irvine, said the new airline's gift "will allow us to provide much needed transportation to qualified scholars, who otherwise might not be able to come to the campus for interviews with committee members."

The Regents Scholarship is the highest undergraduate scholarship awarded by the University of California. Four-year awards are made to students entering from high school and two-year awards to students transferring from another college or university who have completed 60 to 90 quarter units.

The Irvine campus will award 12 of these scholarships this spring for the academic year beginning October 1967. Students from all parts of the state are considered on the basis of outstanding academic record and high degree of promise.

Applicants considered qualified for Regents' Scholarships must be available for personal interviews on the campus.

Porter, Irvine Complex President Resigns After Successful Tenure

John F. Porter, president of the Irvine Industrial Complex, today announced his resignation effective April 30, 1967, to devote full time to personal business, investments and development activities. He has no immediate plans to leave Orange County.

In making the announcement, Porter commended the directors of The Irvine Company. He stated, "their vision made possible the formation of an industrial development subsidiary. For the first time in the company's history an aggressive program of industrial development was instituted on the Irvine Ranch. I have great confidence in the business future of the Irvine Industrial Complex."

William R. Mason, Chairman, Irvine Industrial Complex, in praising Porter's achievements, today stated: "He brought to the Company knowledge and foresight in the industrial development field, built a successful organization and established a record unparalleled in the nation's industrial parks during the last three years.

'Unique' Key Word To El Toro's New Bank – Royal Savings, Loan

El Toro now has what is perhaps the most unique bank in the world--not only is it temporarily located in a house trailer--but it converts into a community hall minutes after closing.

The bank, Royal Savings and Loan Association, will eventually have a building in the proposed Torrocenter, El Toro. In the meantime, it has parked a trailer on the construction site to serve residents.

"We designed the facility with the people of Laguna Hills in mind," John Lundquis, bank president, said.

The facility converts into a multi-purpose auditorium or theatre for private, civic or social organizations.

Lundquist noted as "special features" a disappearing stage and movie screen, permanently installed 16mm and 8mm sound movie projector, seating for 100 persons and a lounge area.

Officials of the bank said they will conduct business in the temporary facilities until September and serve as "question answerer" for the new shopping center.

CHP Reports On Progress Of Feb. 'Operation 500'

Data Shows That As Patrol Went Up, Accidents Went Down 20 Per Cent

The California Highway Patrol developed the "Operation 500" program in an effort to reduce traffic accidents and provide better services on high accident frequency roadways in various parts of the State.

In Orange County, the Santa Ana Freeway became the object of the stepped-up road patrol on Feb. 1, 1967. After one month of "Operation 500," Captain James Peters of the office in Anaheim released the following information about the Santa Ana Freeway between Artesia Avenue and Laguna Canyon Road.

Total traffic accidents have been reduced 20 per cent compared to February, 1966. Injury collision remained the same. Injured persons increased by two for a total of forty-one and one person was killed on the study route.

The one traffic death occurred when the driver lost control and stuck a light pole near Orangethorpe Avenue overpass. The driver was speeding (75 plus) and had been drinking.

Fifty-eight officers have in-view patrolled a total of 8,178 hours and logged 156,625 miles on the twenty mile stretch of six lane highway. Patrolling has increased approximately 300 per cent over February, 1966.

One drinking driver incident occurred Sunday morning, Feb. 26, when a motor officer took up pursuit on a speeding and weaving car.

The officer attempted to speed check the vehicle at 85 but lost ground as the car sped up. A patrol car, utilizing red light and siren, joined in on the chase and at a speed in excess of 125 was able to close in on the car.

An "In pursuit" call alerted units ahead. The car slowed to 95 and cut through traffic in a weaving manner.

The officer noticed the driver place a can to his mouth, tip his head back and appear to drink from the can.

An officer pulled to the right side of the car and motioned the driver to pull over. The driver looked at the officer and then very casually took another drink from the container. The pursued car sped up to 115.

More units were alerted and "wanted" checks were radioed to determine the status of the car being pursued. After two and one half miles at 115 the driver slowed to 30 but would not pull over.

Numerous patrol units had moved into position and the officers prepared for the eventuality of the driver acting in a desperate manner. Apparently the driver got the message and stopped one and one half miles later.

The motorist was arrested for driving while under the influence of alcohol and reckless driving.

Methodist Church Chartered At Morning Worship Service

The University Methodist Church, of University Park, was officially chartered last Sunday at its morning worship, reported the Rev. James D. Stewart today.

Dr. Kenneth Miller, district superintendent of the Methodist Church from the Whittier District, preached the sermon and conducted the Constituting Conference that elected the official officers of the church.

The local church is presently holding its church services at 8:30 a.m. each Sunday in the St. Mark Presbyterian Church at 2001 Eastbluff Dr., Corona del Mar. The church has acquired a building site at the corner of University and Culver Dr., in the University Park area and is presently making plans for building. The congregation began worshipping together during Sept. and now has a membership of fifty people.

Tustin Districts Must Hold Election

Due to state law, the Tustin high school and elementary districts will have to hold a unification election early this summer, according to county director of administrative services Jack R. Roper.

The election will have to be held, Roper said, because the state recently released a directive which calls for those districts that have formerly failed unification to hold a new election every two years.

Students Dance For Tustin Board

The Tustin Elementary Board of Education conducted their regular meeting last week to a capacity audience at the Loma Vista Elementary School since the business meeting was combined with a dance program put on by the three fifth grade classes of the local school.

Mrs. Graser, Mrs. Leonard and Mrs. Shaw--all fifth grade teachers--were responsible for the dance routine. More than 100 children took part in the show. Charles Mitchell is principal of the school.

NEW CHURCH--Architectural drawings of the proposed Church of Calle Aragon, Laguna Hills, utilize a Spanish-contemporary design to of Christ Scientist to be built on Moulton Parkway at blend with the surrounding area of Rossmoor Leisure World.

Preliminary Drawings Made For Church of Christ Scientist To Be Built In Laguna Hill's Leisure World Near Parkway

Preliminary drawings have been completed for a 300-seat Church of Christ Scientist at Laguna Hills, it was announced recently by the Rev. H. Carl Roessler, Director of Religious Activities for the Leisure World Foundation.

Designed by Thoma W. McCorkell, A.I.A., Laguna Beach, the 12,00 sq. ft. single story building will be constructed on Moulton Parkway at Calle Aragon.

Included in the plans are an auditorium, Sunday School room, Reading Room and a gallery 14 ft. wide and 28 feet high. Stained glass windows and wrought iron chandeliers suspended from a heavy timber ceiling will be utilized in the Spanish-Contemporary structure.

Other rooms include a board room, committee room, clerk's office and rooms for two readers, organist, soloist, service and work areas. The grounds will have parking facilities for 105 cars, lawn, shrubbery and planting areas in addition to several large trees.

Covered walkways will extend from each side of the building to the parking area as well as to the Moulton Parkway.

Constucted of off-white masonry, frame, stucco and full height glass walls, the church will feature exposed wood ceiling with laminated trusses and posts. Red and tan Mission Tile will be used in the roofing.

The church will be built on approximately 2 acres of land donated by Ross W. Cortese, president of the Rossmoor Corporation.

This will mark the sixth church to be constructed at the giant planned community.

Citizens Group Meets Tomorrow

The Citizens Educational Advisory Group, for the Tustin Union High School District, is scheduled to meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at the Tustin High School cafeteria to reach a decision on the advisability of another tax override based upon the reports of the unit chairmen, announced Chairman, Dr. Sylvan Katz today.

Last night the group meet at Mission Viejo High School to hear the final reports of each of the units on the advisability of another tax override.

Last week the group met at Foothill High where a report on a survey to the citizens was made. The public is invited to tomorrow's night meeting.

Tree Planting To Highlight Arbor Day Fete

Tuesday ceremonies commemorating Arbor Day will be highlighted by the presentation and planting of a pair of Deodar Cedar trees on the lawn in front of Clubhouse 2 at Rossmoor Leisure World.

The 2 p.m program will feature a talk on the Deodar Cedar tree by Cliff Comer, Superintendent of horticulture at Leisure World, and the presentation to Major Anderson, Director of the Recreation and Education Department, who will accept the trees for Leisure World.

The invocation will be given by Rev. Henry Gerhard, pastor of the Church of Religious Science. Paul Colburn will give a short talk on the significance of Arbor Day.

The program will include a reading of the poem entitled "May We Dedicate This Tree," written by Maury Ramsey, poet laureate of the Kiwanis Club.

A trumpet solo, "Trees," will also be rendered by Rus Kimbley, accompanied by Ruth Biehle.

The ceremony is being planned and sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Leisure World. Dr. Clifford Gilles, president, will be Master of Ceremonies.

La Paz Plaza Offers Professional Services

La Paz, first shopping center in the new community of Mission Viejo, has moved a step closer to providing a full range of professional services as well as a complete range of stores and shops with the signing of a lease by Konstantim Sparkuhl, M.D.

The establishment of offices by Dr. Sparkuhl assures availability of both medical and dental services to the more than 700 families who have purchased homes in the new community, according to E.B. Akins, vice president of the Mission Viejo Co.

Dobert O. Callaghan, D.D.DS. D.D.DS. had previously engaged offices in the new commercial center which is scheduled to open April 1, Akins said.

Firms which have leased space in the new center also include Thriftimart, United California Bank, Union Oil, Phillip's Hair Fashions, Morrison's Pharmacy, Whitmer Cleaners, Mission Florists.

The neighborhood shopping facility for Mission Viejo has a colorful contemporary Spanish design with landscaped and tiled malls protected by large overhangs. The center also contains a two-story office facility being readied as headquarters for Mission Viejo Co., developers of the new community, a post office, barber shop and hardware store.

Other community amenities opened to residents during the past year include the 50-acre Mission Viejo High School, and 18-hole championship Mission Viejo Golf Club.

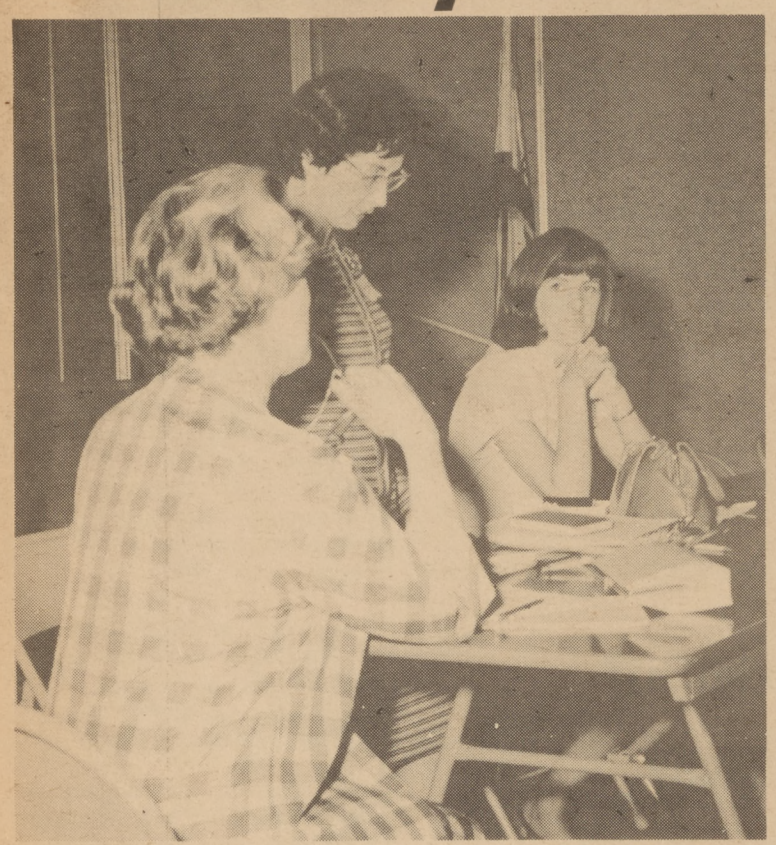
Community Gains Stature By High School PTO



THE BIRTH of a PTO was the dream of the three women pictured above since the opening of the new Mission Viejo High School this fall. Left to right are Mrs. Kay Butler, by-laws committee members; Mrs. Shirley Palley, Chairman of the Steering Committee and Mrs. Jean McCowen, of the by-laws committee. The local women worked long and hard at holding meetings to establish the group and to work at setting up a set of by-laws which were adopted at last week's meeting. Staff photo.

MORE THAN 100 parents attended a meeting last week at the new Mission Viejo High School where officers were elected for a new Parent-Teacher Organization and by-laws were also adopted. Pictured above is an angle photo showing part of the parents in attendance. In the foreground is the original Steering Committee which consisted of Mrs. Shirley Palley, chairman, of University Park and by-laws committee women Mrs. Kay Butler and Mrs. Jean McCowen. Later the meeting was turned over to the newly elected officers. Staff photo.

BY CARL E. VENSTROM
Editor and Publisher

A 100 interested parents of students attending the new Mission Viejo High School got together one night last week and within three hours they formed a new organization--called the "Parent-Teacher Organization of the new Mission Viejo High School"--and elected officers and adopted a set of by-laws.

But the whole procedure was slightly more complicated than it might appear.

For several months a Steering Committee, chaired by Mrs. Shirley Palley, had been meeting to give permanent form to the organization. Two active members of this by-laws committee were Mrs. Kay Butler and Mrs. Jeane McGowen.

After a couple of hours of discussion, and selective changes, the by-laws were adopted by the parents and a slate of officers were nominated from the floor and elected.

Officers of the local high school's PTA, elected at last week's meeting, were George Dicks, president; Mrs. Nancy Briner, first vice-president; Mrs. Jeanne McGowen, second vice-president; Mrs. Janet Weilein, secretary and Edmund Eggers, treasurer.

Following the election Chester Briner, Mission Viejo resident and member of the high school Citizen's Advisory Group, gave a short report on the work of the group and urged parents to attend the group's meetings where they are working on ways to help the district on its present economic needs.

Jay Ingall, principal of the local high school, thanked the Steering Committee for its hard work and urged all the parents to continue to attend the PTO meetings at the school.

The entire faculty of the new high school also attended the organizational meeting and visited with parents following the election.

NCAA Admits UCI Anteaters To Collegiate Competition

Full Accreditation Qualifies Local School For Membership

The University of California, Irvine has been approved for NCAA college division membership in District 8, and the Anteaters are eligible to compete in collegiate sports championships sponsored by the NCAA, effective immediately.

Announcement of the membership approval came today from UCI Athletic Director Wayne Crawford after receipt of a telegram from the National Collegiate Athletic Association in Kansas City, Mo.

Crawford was extremely pleased with the good news, and Coach Al Irwin and his swimming team are elated. "This is great," commented Irwin, "now we'll be able to compete in the NCAA swimming championship in Commerce."

Irwin's powerful swimming forces have been on pins and needles awaiting the NCAA'S approval on the membership application since their spectacular dual meet victory over two-time defending college division swimming champion San Diego State, 73-31, three weeks ago.

"It was entirely possible the acceptance could have been delayed, and our swimming team wouldn't have had the chance to even compete for the title this year," Crawford commented.

As it turns out, the Anteaters now are eligible and will enter the championships as one of the top four or five entries, along with San Diego State, UC Santa Barbara, University of Pacific and San Jose State.

The championships will be Thursday through Saturday. Nearly 50 schools and more than 250 competitors were represented at last year's championships in Illinois.

UCI applied for membership in October 1966, but the application could not be acted upon until the school was fully accredited by the accrediting commission for senior colleges and universities.

Irvine was notified of full accreditation in late January 1967, and the application for membership was then circulated to district member schools for approval.

Finney Maintains 'Mr. Offense' Title

Dale Finney, 6-3 forward on the University of California, Irvine basketball team, retained his "Mr. Offense" title for the second consecutive year as he led the Anteaters in seven offensive departments this season and equaled two other individual scoring marks, according to figures released by the UCI Athletic News Service.

The 200-pound senior from Santa Ana College and Santa Ana High paced UCI in scoring average per game, total points, field goals made, field goals attempted, free throws made, free throws attempted and free throw percentage.

Athletic Girls Offered Chance

Girls interested in athletics--not from only the spectators point of view, but also as a participant, should consider registering for the local Bobby Sox Softball League this month.

Registration will be held at Mission Viejo High School March 18, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; at Gates School March 20 from 7 to 9 p.m.; and Irvine School March 23 from 7 to 9 p.m.

A non-profit organization, Bobby Sox Softball is open to all girls ages nine through 14.

A parent or guardian must present a birth cerficate at the registration desk. Fees for registering are: $3.50 for the first girl in each family, $3 for the second, and $2 for each additional registrant.

Bobby Sox Softball holds in mind, according to a local official, "promoting citizenship, sportsmanship, leadership, and friendship."

Probably the unique point of this organization, it was mentioned, is that it is one athletic group that does not tolerate bench warmers--every girls plays in every game.

Area Pony League Has Registration

With new officers elected, the Tustin Pony League has slated the next two Saturdays for registration of players.

Signups will be held in the all-purpose room at C.E. Utt School from 10 a.m. through 4 p.m. both days.

The pony league baseball program is for youngsters 13 and 14 years old. To be eligible for this year a boy must have been born between August 1, 1952 and July 31, 1954.

Boys must be accompanied by a parent and present their birth certificates at registration. A fee of $15 is charged to cover insurance, uniforms, equipment, umpire, field maintenance, and other normal running costs.

SHAPING UP--Members of the Capistrano Highlands Angels Little League team get in shape for the coming season in Costeau Park, their home field.

Diablo Cagers Notch Third, Look For Vast Improvement

By Jim Watkins

Mission Viejo High School's basketball team recently competed their first season by finishing in third place in the Orange League. With virtually the entire team returning, the future of Diablo basketball looks extremely bright.

Dave Connally, Greg Swenson, and Steve Limberg, all juniors made up the front line this year and exhibited considerable promise. Mission's two guards are even less experienced - Tom Gardner being a sophomore and Rudy Holmes only a freshman. Their potential is unlimited, and two years from now they should represent one of the finest backcourt duos in the area.

Undoubtedly the highlight of the season was the Diablo's exciting one-point victory over bigger, more experienced El Modena late in the season. With continuance of this kind of performance, the local area is in for some real thrills in future basketball seasons.

If Mission Viejo retains interscholastic athletics, they will enter the larger, tougher Crestview League next year. This league includes schools like Orange, Tustin, and Laguna Beach. Coach Roberts is wisely making no predictions, but with strong student and community backing, Diablo basketball is within reach of much success.

Highland Angels Prep For Coming Season In Majors

Members of the Capistrano Highlands Angels, Macco Realty Company sponsored little league team, are getting in shape for the coming season on their home field in Costeau Park.

Mark Hoyle, Capistrano Highlands resident who managed the Angels in their first season last year has been appointed manager of the major league team for this season.

Hoyle immediately announced that tryouts for both major and minor league teams would be held at Irvine School on Sand Canyon Road in Irvine this Saturday and next Saturday at 10 a. m.

All boys aged eight to 12 are eligible and may contact manager Hoyle in Capistrano Highlands.

"We had a great first season," Hoyle recalled, "and look forward to an even better one this year with our good seasonal players. Howard Lampe, who did such a fine job as coach last season, will coach the major league."

"We are hoping for a good response to the tryouts and feel certain of the cooperation of parents in the coming season.

I am sure that residents of the communities realize the importance of this supervised youth activity. Working with the boys is very gratifying. We hope to teach them to play ball, learn sportsmanship, teamwork, have fun and win some games."

The Angels, composed of boys who live in Capistrano Highlands and surrounding communities, are members of the El Toro-Irvine Little League.

All of the league's games will be played in the Angeles home park, with the schedule starting the first week in April and continuing to the middle of July.

First Elementary School Set For Mission Viejo

The first elementary school in Mission Viejo will be under construction by the end of March. Plans for the school to be called the Marquerite M. O'Neill Elementary School were revealed this week. Contract to build the school were let today.

The school will provide local educational facilities for childrer from more than 700 families now residing in Mission Viejo. It was preceded by Mission Viejo High School which opened in September, 1966.

The four building educational facilities were designed by Flewelling & Moody, A.I.a., Pasadena, architects and engineers.

The buildings, constructed with split face block and exposed glue laminated beams, provide 40,000 square feet of usable space, including 20 classrooms with sliding partitions for adaption to various sizes, two kindergartens, a multi-purpose administration building and auditorium with a stage that also opens to an outdoor amphitheater, a library, and kitchen and dining facilities.

All buildings will be air conditioned and carpeted.

When completed in eight months, the school will accommodate approximately 700 pupils.

High Praise Accorded To Mission Viejo By New York Urban Affairs Bureau Trio

Three Members Stop By While On Inspection Tour

High praise was accorded the new community of Mission Viejo last week by three members of the Urban Affairs Bureau of New York State's Division of Housing and Community Renewal.

The trio inspected the nationally-acclaimed southern Orange County development while touring new communities in California and Arizona. Studying housing, urban renewal, and planned communities, they talked to both private and public officials in an effort to find ideas applicable to New York's state development plan.

"Our primary reason for coming to California," explained Samuel R. Mozes, director of the Urban Affairs Bureau, "was to study planned communities, since they are more advanced in this area than elsewhere.

"We are greatly impressed by the quality and design of the Mission Viejo community and by the quality of its housing. We are also very much impressed by the Mission Viejo administrative staff and its ability to develop this community from idea to accomplishment in a relatively short time."

Californians, said Mozes, have rare opportunities to develop planned communities because of large land holdings represented by the old ranchos.

He indicated that the nationwide success of the planned community concept depends upon the ability of developers to assemble enough land to plan and build a real community. In other parts of the country, the solution might be one employed in Europe, exercising the right of eminent domain.

"Californians are also fortunate in having developers or groups of developers who have the understanding, vision, enterprise and financial and organizational ability to build such planned communities as Mission Viejo."

Touring with Mozes were John W. Grifalconi, chief planner of the bureau and the man responsible for the state's development plan, and Miss Judith Zimmermann, a member of the planning staff.

Expressing a feminine -- but professional -- viewpoint, Miss Zimmermann said:

"We are very pleased with La Paz Homes and the whole development. One can see that an effort has been made to create a community with its own identity and the effort has succedded, partly because of the harmonious layout of Mission Viejo and partly because of the architectural flavor of its homes. Mission Viejo has a distinctive flavor that is carried throughout the development.

"We noticed, too, that the homes are of excellent quality. And, the prices are lower than on the East Coast."

After inspecting the La Paz Models, the trio expressed amazement that the homes they had just seen represented Mission Viejo's lowest price development.

Tustin Board Adopts Pay Scale Despite Faculty Assn. Request

Despite the request of the Faculty Assn. to delay a decision until this summer, Tustin trustees have adopted a salary schedule for 1967-68 for teachers.

The association had asked for the delay in making the schedule because they felt a better judgement could be made after the district officials knew for sure just what the financial situation would be for the year.

Trustees, in answer to the request, told the teachers that adjustments could be made later if the situation improves.

Any improvement on the financial status of the district would probably come from a third tax override attempt--if one is made.

The schedule that the trustees approved is the same as the one used his fiscal year. With a top of $10,845, beginning teachers are paid $5,950.
